

And Finally,

How many members of staff does it take to back a display board? Over the summer we have had quite a few bits of internal works and decorations being done, which meant that some of the display boards at Town had to be re-backed this term. Walking past the other day, there were three members of staff attacking this tricky task of putting up backing paper and a bordette roll. When I walked back past again about 10 minutes later, another member of staff had been drafted in to support the process. So in answer to the original question-it takes four! Have a good weekend
